Together

"If I have seen farther than others, it is because I was standing on the shoulder of giants." - Isaac Newton

Newton is considered as one of the fathers of modern science, but he saw himself as the beneficiary of the work of others. His humble attitude is appropriate for each of us also.

How have you benefitted by the men and women and faith, who preceded you? You were taught the scripture by others, who explained and answered your questions. You saw others model the Christian life in their daily lives. You were motivated and encouraged by others who spoke that encouraging word at a time when you desperately needed it.

Some of these giants were family and some were not. I know for a fact that in my family, I am in the fourth generation of Christians, perhaps more. There were others who taught me in Bible class and university. And acquaintances, who crossed the path of my life and taught me with their words and example.

How can I thank those disciples, for what they shared with me? Even those I never met and those who have left this life?

Answer: by continuing in the path of Jesus and being the best I can be. Our lives should reflect the same faith and dedication as those we admire the most. Who is the "most spiritual" one you have ever known? Be like them.

Pass on the blessings you received to those around you. Like the oak tree or the dandelion, plant the seed all around you. Keep doing it because you are someone's spiritual giant.

Paul's Peppery Notes

If you are like most of us, somewhere along the way God has brought an unlovely person into your life. Unloveliness has nothing to do with his or her appearance. The person just makes it really hard for you to love. Try a "sneak attack". At your next opportunity, startle that person with an act of kindness or a helping hand, at the moment when he or she least expects or deserves it. You may have to scratch your head a while to plan this one, but God will make it worth your effort. Paul
