Together

Unless there is a large scale repentance in our nation, the time is coming, when you will receive an invitation to a same sex marriage. It may be an acquaintance, a coworker or a family member, who you may or may not have known they were homosexual. The question is, do you go?

We are all sinners and we live and work with sinners. We have even been to the weddings of sinners, some we knew were doomed from the start. However, we hoped they would mature and make it work. But, this is different.

We attend weddings to show our support for the couple in their new venture of life. Disciples pray that God will bless them with opportunities to be godly in life and they will accept those opportunities. Our presence suggests approval of their union.

Believers know that God created man and woman to be helpmates for one another. Gen 1:26-27; Mt 19:4-5. And the inspired Word of God, condemns the acts of homosexuality. Rom 1:26-27.

Would a disciple be comfortable in attending a wedding service for a human and an animal? What about an adult and a young child? Or for a second or third spouse? If no, then Why for same sex?

Love for non disciples is expected by Jesus. Neither Jesus, nor us, hate the people who are not saved. Jesus died for the lost. For God so loved the world. There is no hatred toward the individual, regardless of their sin. But, we do not need to participate in their sin in order to share the gospel. We are all sinners, Rom 3:23, it is our task to call others by the love of Jesus so they will leave a life of sin.

The saved are not perfect and should not leave that impression.

When that invitation comes, we can give a kind thank you and explain we will not be able to attend.

Know your target

Businesses must know their target market. Writers must know their target audience. And we all make better decisions when we consider the target of our actions.

A college religion teacher set up a cardboard target in his classroom. "Draw someone who has upset you," he instructed. Students sketched ex-boyfriends or -girlfriends, coworkers who'd mistreated them, childhood bullies. Each, in turn, then placed their drawing over the bull's-eye and took aim with a bow and arrow. Afterward, the bull's-eye was riddled with holes. The students congratulated one another ... until the teacher pulled back the target, revealing Jesus' scarred, torn face.

Silence fell as he read: "Truly I tell you, just as you did it to one of the least of these ... you did it to me" (Matthew 25:40, NRSV).

In choosing actions — no matter the human target — remember who else will be struck by your arrows. Let's take aim with love, not hurt.
